"90% of the reads bring me to tears. I just can't believe the love this world truly has when all we see is hate. This is so uplifting." —Shelsea Where do you go when you want to feel inspired? When you want to forget about the divisiveness and the anger? For over five million people, that place is Love What Matters, a digital platform dedicated to finding and sharing the daily moments of kindness, compassion, and love that so often go overlooked. This curated collection of powerful stories features first person accounts and photographs that perfectly capture each moment: A husband learning he's about to be a dad. A new mom embracing her body. A cashier inadvertently teaching a young girl a lesson about patience. A bagel from a stranger that saved a homeless man's life. From long overdue adoptions to military heroes returning home; from a fireman's touching 9/11 tribute to what an old dinner plate found at a bake sale can teach us all about life—these are the moments that matter. They are genuine. Authentic. Raw. And they are perfect in their imperfection—just like all of us. You will no doubt experience goosebumps and tears, but this mosaic of life's moments will leave you with something even more profound: a reminder that, in the end, love always wins. “This really is the best page on Facebook. It renews your love of humanity. There are still good people. We need more reports of acts of kindness.” —Johnny ¿Qué haría un padre por proteger a su hijo? ¿Hasta dónde estaría dispuesto a llegar? ¿Le espiaría? ¿Llegaría a mantenerle localizado permanente por el GPS de su móvil? Es lo que hacen Tia y Mike Baye, aunque vigilarle así no impedirá que Adam, su hijo de 16 años, desaparezca tras el suicidio de su mejor amigo. Ambos se lanzarán a una agónica búsqueda, mientras van conociendo con espanto que, en el fondo, no saben nada de la vida de su hijo. Mientras que, a su alrededor, se pone en marcha un mecanismo estremecedor: los vecinos corren el riesgo de perder a su único hijo necesitado de un pulmón, una joven aparece brutalmente

Child restraint seat used in aircraft are based on automotive designs that are required to pass a horizontal bum rate test method. The flammability of child seat materials was gauged against the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) vertical Bunsen burner tests method. Basically, the vertical test prescribed in Federal Aviation Regulation (FAR) 25.853 (a)(1)(II) allows a bum length of 8 inches and flame time of 15 seconds after exposure to a Bunsen burner flame for 12 seconds. Eight child restraint seats were purchased from a retail store. The seats were disassembled in order to cut test specimens from the various seat components. Because of the size of the seat and use of materials, in most cases it was not possible to prepare the required sample size and replicates. However, this did not impact the overall conclusions regarding the flammability of the materials tested. The test results indicated that the large majority of materials would not meet the FAA vertical fire test criteria. Also, some of the failed materials burned across the entire sample length, and others produced high flames or dense smoke. The findings are consistent with the knowledge that a horizontal bum test is far less severe than a vertical bum test.
